

The I&M Society offers a selection of Video Tutorials (VTs) that address relevant and important topics of interest to the I&M community. Video Tutorials are classified as belonging to the Expert or Classroom series. Video Tutorials of the Expert series are authored by someone who is recognized as an Expert (academician or practitioner) in his/her field, while a Classroom series Video Tutorial is one typically authored by a graduate student and may be geared more towards specific measurement or instrumentation skills and/or classroom-based lecture topics. The I&M Society also offers the opportunity to earn CEU/PDH credits. Please see below for more information. If you have any questions, please contact Prof. Salvatore Graziani, the Editor-in-Chief of the Video Tutorials Program, for more information.

Salvatore Graziani

Editor-in-Chief, Video Tutorials Program

To view a listing of the current Video Tutorials, please visit this page!